

MotorcycleGearReview.com

Product reviews for motorcyclists by motorcyclists.

REVIEWS
FREE CLASSIFIEDS
DISCUSSION BOARDS

HJC Neutron

Competition weight premium top grain leather, removable shoulder, elbow and back body armor pull full length torso flex panels provide added comfort and protection. Adjustable Velcro low-cut padded collar. Double-stitched seams. Dependable YKK quality zippers with convenient pull tabs. Two zippered hand warmer pockets, snap closure internal breast pocket. Velcro adjustable waist belts. Fully gusseted wrist openings with zippered cuffs. Zippered sleeve and rear exit vents backed with Mighty 7" mesh liner. Zippered key pocket on sleeve. Drop-down back with accessory pant attachment uses #8 YKK zipper for added protection. Fully-lined soft nylon/polyester mesh interior. Full length, two-way zipper with double-layered wind flap.

www.hjc-helmet.com

Reviews: 4

Average Rating:  4.50
 Category Average:  4.32

ADD A REVIEW

Reviews:

Review By: John from Houston, TX
Reviewed On: August, 13 2003
Experience with product:	More than 2 years.
Type of riding done with product:	Sport Riding
Price paid:	$350
Purchased from:	don't recall
Product strengths:	Good ventilation, lotsa storage pockets, including a small pocket on the left sleeve (why don't all jackets have this?) and a large "fanny pack" type pocket above the butt. Warm in the winter with the lining in and vents closed. Seems to be good quality, fairly heavy weight leather.
Product weaknesses:	Foam armor in the elbows and back is just a wee bit thin.
Overall Opinion:	A great jacket! I wore mine for 3 years but just sold it to a friend; my fault, I bought it too big, once the leather softened up the arms flapped in the breeze too much. Gonna miss it, might even buy a new smaller sized one...
Value:	★★★★★
Overall:	★★★★★

Review By: SCOTT from montgomery, al Reviewed On: September, 17 2002
Experience with product:	About 3 Months
Type of riding done with product:	Sport Riding
Price paid:	$169
Purchased from:	New Enough
Product strengths:	Quality at a low price. I bought mine as a clearance so, I imagine the price is normally higher. It appears as though it would bring somewhere around $295.00 to $325.00 price range. The styling is superb and (to those of us with a bit of a belly) is slenderizing. Ventilation is okay but, I would have preferred some long front vents. This jacket has only two small sleeve vents in front. It does have long vents in back but, I believe their effectiveness is thwarted by the lack of bigger vents in front. All in all, a smokin' deal if you can get it for under $200.00.
Product weaknesses:	Although the shoulder armor seems to be first rate(waffle type), the elbow and spine protection leave alot to be desired. Generally, they are not thick enough to give a feeling of protection. They seem to be some foam pads-not even memory foam. Additionally, I feel the leather could be a tad thicker.
Overall Opinion:	I have a few gripes but given the price, I really am happy with the product. I'm especially happy with the closeout deal. I wasn't expecting something of Vanson quality for under $200.00 yet, I did receive a value that surpassed my expectations. I get compliments on it all of the time and love telling folks how little I paid for it.
Value:	★★★★★
Overall:	★★★★☆

Review By: WILLIAM from BIRMINGHAM, MI Reviewed On: November, 12 2001
Experience with product:	About 3 Months
Type of riding done with product:	Cruising
Price paid:	$145
Purchased from:	ORIGINAL PURCHASER
Product strengths:	Compared to a Joe Rocket jacket I have, the HJC has a higher quality leather tanning, is heavier weight, has excellent pockets. I'll have to wait until summer to see if the HJC ventilation system is as good as a Joe Rocket--which is hard to beat. Good, non-conspicuous body armor. Excellent zippers.
Product weaknesses:	None that I have discovered.
Overall Opinion:	Outstanding jacket--a jacket that will not disappoint.
Value:	★★★★★
Overall:	★★★★★

Review By: Anthony from Syracuse Reviewed On: June, 27 2001
Experience with product:	About 3 Months
Type of riding done with product:	Sport Riding

Price paid:	$200
Purchased from:	dealer
Product strengths:	good thickness leather with padding in all the right places, great ventilation, comfortable, chicks love the style.
Product weaknesses:	neck closure slightly irritating, slightly bunches in front when in forward lean position.
Overall Opinion:	this jacket kicks*for the price I paid, I bought it from the dealer who sold me my bike and took this product at a steal.
Value:	★★★★★
Overall:	★★★★★

ADD A REVIEW

Contact Us: Suggest A Product | Report An Error | Provide Feedback

Terms of Use | Privacy Policy

Motorcycle Gear Review is a product of Cross Area Networks, LLC
Washington DC, Virginia, Maryland IT Support and Computer Consulting
Copyright © 2000-2004 Cross Area Networks, LLC. All Rights Reserved.